AGAINST THE PLAGUE.

What Pure Carbolic Acid will do in three hours, Essets Fluid will do in nine minutes.

The microbe or bacillus of bubonic plague grows readily in artificial media, and is destroyed by Essets Fluid.

These are important results proving the exceptional power of Essets Fluid, in fact, it is far superior to pure carbolic acid of the same strength.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Mercantile Marine.

For some considerable time past there has been a growing feeling of discontent amongst the Officers of the Mercantile Marine employed in the China Coast trade. The men complain that the scale of pay, namely, £14 per month for First Mates, £8 for Second Mates and £7 for Third Mates, newly joined, is not sufficient for their needs.

Prices have risen everywhere upon the China Coast and what was formerly a fair wage is now hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together and certainly offers few inducements to good men to serve away from home.

Accordingly a series of meetings have been held both here and in Shanghai, and the Northern and Southern Rise Committees formed to deal with the question of the pay of mates employed in the northern and southern ships respectively. Both Committees have, we understand, addressed the principal owners of the coasting steamers asking for a rise of pay to £20 for First, £14 for Second and £11 for Third mates.

The Officers argue that of late their examinations have become more difficult and that a very different and better educated class of men are now required than was formerly the case. The days of the old illiterate class of Mercantile Marine Officer, who could only work out a position by rule of thumb, are passed and gone, and the owners have profited thereby in obtaining a better and more responsible class of men for their ships.

Another point put forward is that the Mates are, by no means so well paid as the Engineers, although they have equal, if not more, responsibility and have to pass a searching examination to obtain their certificates. For instance, a Third Engineer, just out of his apprenticeship and without a certificate, gets more pay than a First Mate, who in all probability holds a master's certificate, has passed various examinations and put in a far greater amount of time than that covered by the Third Engineer just out of his apprenticeship. In addition to this the First Mate has a deal more responsibility and must live up to a position far in advance of that of the Third Engineer, which, on less pay, is manifestly unfair.

Then too, the Customs and Government employees have all received increases of late, and the Mates feel that they are in quite as bad a position as these people. Many of them are married men who have to support wives and families, either out here or at home, and they find most difficult to do at the present scale of pay. They want a holiday at times too, for the climate on the China Coast is one which tells upon a man's constitution, and unless he can afford a trip home now and again he is liable to deteriorate, to the detriment of both himself and his owners. Add to this the fact that no man comes to China for his health, but in the hope of improving his position and laying up a nest egg for his old age, and one has the whole case in a nutshell.

The China Coast Captains, we are told, are not so badly off as their Officers. Their pay, which averages about £30 per month for the junior men, is far in excess of that of the First Mates, who, to a great extent share the responsibilities of the Captains. It is argued that too great a disparity exists between the rates of pay of these two ranks and this also is a cause of complaint.

Of course we know perfectly well that there may be a good deal to say upon the other side and that sailor men are proverbially supposed to be never happy except when discontented, but still we think that the Mates have a fairly strong case. The whole of us here exist on and for the China trade and it is the coasting vessels which feed that trade and keep it alive. To the men in charge of these ships thousands of pounds worth of cargo is annually entrusted and when compared with the value of a fully laden ship, the pay of the First, Second and Third Mates is as but a drop in the ocean. It is these men to whom the safe carriage of our goods and the navigation of our vessels is entrusted and it would seem hard that they should be, as they say they are, paid what is barely a living wage.

So far as we can gather in the early stages of the movement, the men, both here and in the north are perfectly unanimous in their demands. Of the other side of the question, that is to say of the attitude likely to be adopted by the Owners, we are not as yet able to speak, but we trust that matters may be arranged satisfactorily to both parties. A glance at the profits made by the local shipping firms will serve to show that their vessels are by no means being run at a loss, and thus we imagine that the Mates will, in the end, be satisfied.

A FIVE MILE BICYCLE RACE was brought off yesterday afternoon on the Quarry Bay Cycle track between T. Beggings, of Hongkong, and F. Gaston, the boatswain of the Empress of India. It was a well-contested race but in the lap preceding the final Gaston overtook and passed his opponent and then won easily in 14 min. 28 2/5th secs.

A COLLISION occurred at Shanghai on the 3rd inst. between the Russian steamer Argon and the French gunboat Surprise, but fortunately resulted in little damage to either vessel. The French gunboat was lying at anchor opposite the Bund and the Argon was coming up river, when just above the bow of the Argon got foul of the Surprise and struck the latter vessel on the starboard side. The Russian steamer suffered little or no damage. The gunboat had a few plates stove in above and below the water line and the bow of one of the boats on the davits was badly damaged.

COMMODORE'S CUP—2ND CLASS.

Payne and Maid Marian sailed off their tie for this Cup on Saturday, the 1st inst., the course being round the Beacon at Lyemooon (port), Kowloon Rock (port), and Meyer's East Buoy (starboard); 10 1/2 miles. Both boats got away to a good start, Maid Marian being first over the line, and in the light northerly air she gradually increased her lead. Off North Point the wind was blowing quite fresh, and Payne came almost up to her rival, but by the time the Beacon was reached Maid Marian was again leading by half a minute. It was a beat through a nasty sea to Kowloon Rock, both boats having quite as much sail as they could carry; Payne did not seem to go as well as usual, sagging away to leeward far more than her rival, and having to make two boards over to the north shore before she could fetch the mark as compared with Maid Marian's one; she was five minutes behind when rounding the rock. Both boats, keeping their distance, made the run to Meyer's East Buoy at a tremendous pace, the race ending with a reach, when Maid Marian further increased her lead. Payne finished five and a half minutes astern, thus winning a fast-sailed race with three minutes of her time allowance in hand.

Official times:—

Payne ... 3 50 32 ... 3 42 00

EIGHTH CLUB RACE—1ST CLASS.

On Sunday, the 2nd, the 8th Club Race was sailed. The course was round the Lyemooon Beacon and the North Fairway Buoy, leaving both to port. The tide was flood and the wind of fair strength, but unfortunately from the North, making the course a reach both ways, and as usual with a North wind here it varied considerably both in force and direction in different parts of the harbour.

COTTAM & CO., DENTS DRIVING, GLOVES for the RACES.

In the 1st class Alannah, Bonito, and Gloria turned out. The first two crossed the line together, Alannah to windward. Gloria was somewhat later starting and never showed up prominently throughout the race. For a considerable distance there was little to choose between the leaders, but after passing North Point, Alannah, whose balloon foresail was serving her far better than Bonito's, got away and made a substantial lead. Near the Beacon the wind was much more easterly and Bonito, by luffing before she got out of the true wind, gained considerably. Alannah went about to round the Beacon rather too soon and being badly served by the wind had to make a short luff to clear the mark; this let Bonito right away. On the long reach to the next mark Alannah after a luffing match or two with Bonito slowly but surely drew away, and by the time the Police Pier was reached she had a lead of a couple of minutes or more. Shortly afterwards she nearly threw the race away by marking for the South Fairway Buoy instead of the North. But luck was with her and she got a lift of wind on the leeward side of a line of moored steamers, which put her well up into the right course, while Bonito on the windward side of the same steamers lay becalmed. The remainder of the race was uneventful. Bonito tried for a fluke and net getting it let Alannah increase her lead. The starter being for some reason absent from his post until the 2nd class were finishing, the times given are not official, but were taken on board the Alannah.

EIGHTH CLUB RACE—2ND CLASS.

Three boats came out in this class. The start was a mere drifting match, as just before gun-fire the wind fell very light, and spoiled what would otherwise have been a close and interesting start. Chanticleer was first away, and picking up the breeze a minute or more before Payne and Maid Marian, she drew well ahead, and gained an advantage which she maintained throughout the race. Payne was next away, but was quickly overhauled by Maid Marian. At the Beacon, Maid Marian, by rounding closely, gained considerably from Payne, and was two and a half minutes ahead, but before reaching North Point she ran into a calm, and Payne came right up and passed her; however, she sailed through Payne's lee, and was in second place when off the Police Pier at Kowloon. Chanticleer lost somewhat to the other boats after this, but never sufficiently to put her position in doubt, and she rounded the Fairway Buoy with a lead of two and a half minutes. There was no change in the order from here to the finish, but Payne fell astern, whilst Maid Marian came a little closer to Chanticleer, who crossed the line first, having sailed a steady race throughout; however, she could not save her time on Payne.

CANTON NOTES.

[From our own Correspondent.]

CANTON, February 10th.

THE NEW YEAR.

The Chinese New Year began with the usual amount of cracks and other noises. Early in the morning a fire broke out in Ho Pun street. The flames shot up rapidly and it looked as if we were in for a serious time. However the firemen were soon on the ground with hand pumps and the pumping station soon had a supply of water available. The streets were free from traffic and in a very short time the fire was got under control. The contents of one shop were destroyed and the building considerably damaged. The cause of the fire was too many candles on the shrine.

All day long the Chinese took full advantage of the fine weather. The streets were crowded with chairs and people on foot, all intent on making as many calls as possible. A few of the shops are opening this morning, but the greater part of them will remain closed for some days yet.

CHAPEL DESTROYED.

A small chapel of the American Presbyterian Mission in the San Ning district was completely demolished by a mob a few days ago. In this instance there was no hostility to the Christians or to the mission work. Unfortunately a window in the chapel looked towards a village a short distance away and the "lung shui" doctors declared that this window would bring evil upon the village. A mob soon gathered and destroyed the chapel.

GOOD ROADS.

Some months ago I reported that the gentry and rich people of the San Ning district had decided to improve the roads and introduce rickshaws. This work has been begun. The road is to be about fifteen feet wide and will run through the most important parts of the district. It is to be hoped that this work once begun will spread to other districts.

MISSION PROPERTY DESTROYED BY A MOB.

The Berlin Mission buildings in the Fa Yeun district have been totally destroyed by a mob. Rev. and Mrs. Bahr, with their child of two weeks old, escaped and have reached Canton. When the trouble began in 1900, the Berlin Mission in Fa Yeun was the first to be destroyed. Dwelling houses and school buildings were demolished. After a good deal of delay and heavy pressure by the German Consul, an indemnity was paid over by the Chinese officials. After quiet was restored Mr. Bahr returned to his field and the school buildings were re-built. The dwelling houses have not yet been replaced. Some days ago there were signs of trouble and Mr. Bahr wrote to the Consul informing him of the threatening aspect of the people. Before the letter reached Canton the mob had done its work. We have not yet had definite information as to the real cause of the trouble. One report says that the person who was the leader in the former riots, maddened because his attempt to drive out the foreigners failed, joined the French Mission and, relying on the protection from the French, gathered a mob and destroyed and fired the buildings. This may be only a rumour without any foundation in fact. However, it is not unlike the way in which a Chinaman would work.

CONTRABAND FROM HONGKONG.

About the middle of last month says a Singapore Journal, the German steamer Emma Luyken, on arriving at Saigon from Hongkong, was searched by customs officers, who found a large quantity of contraband opium on board. The result was the seizure of the steamer by the customs authorities. Two days afterwards the China, another German steamer, also from Hongkong, entered Saigon. Her master at once reported to the customs officials that he had found on board some contraband opium belonging to his comprador. Owing to this giving this information, the master of the China prevented the seizure of his vessel, and he had the satisfaction of giving the comprador into custody. The owners of the Emma Luyken did not let the case of that vessel rest. It is an admitted fact that opium, seized there on shipboard, is often appraised by the customs far above the market value—like a fancy article in short. The amount of the fine and informers depends upon the valuation—the higher it is the better for the informers and the Treasury. The owners of the Emma Luyken have met this by asking that the opium shall be valued by an expert. This power of putting fancy values on opium leads to much wrong doing. For instance, a Chinaman takes passage in a steamer at Hongkong for Saigon. Some scoundrel puts opium, mixed with molasses, among his belongings, and then informs the Customs officials at Saigon that the passenger has contraband opium. On arrival, the poor fellow is arrested; the drug is seized and valued at an enormous figure. He has to pay hence a heavy fine on an article which is actually almost valueless, which never belonged to him and which had been put in without his knowledge. Thus informers and their confederates make money. This method of gain is said to be largely practised at Saigon. It will only come to an end when the customs authorities value truly the opium seized. Informers and seizers would then get less, and it would no longer pay to bring troubles upon innocent passengers by foisting the drug upon them.

MORE ABOUT LOOT.

AN EMINENT FIRM DRAGGED INTO THE CONTROVERSY.

The Rehe Chronicle of 29 ulto. says:—

In a telegram published in Monday's issue it was stated that a certain journal had recently a report that some loot, consisting of horse-shoe silver, had been discovered at Hiroshima, Hamadan and Yamaguchi, and that three men had been arrested on the charge of making false accusations in this affair.

According to further particulars to hand, it appears that on the 18th inst. Kono Tasaburo, one of the men arrested, had an interview with the Minister of War, and stated that one Isobe Asaka, who had some connection with General Yamaguchi, the Commander of the Hiroshima Army Division, was negotiating to sell to a bando of Messrs. Jardine Matheson & Co. of Yokohama, named Otomo Yoriyuki, certain horse-shoe silver, valued at millions of taels, which General Yamaguchi and other officers under him had brought from North China. Kono added that he was a friend of Isobe and had introduced Otomo to him. The Minister of War asked if the man had any evidence to prove the truth of his story. The man had no authoritative evidence, and consequently his statement was received with some suspicion.

On the 22nd inst. the man Kono went to the Minister of War and again made a charge against the officers of looting. The Minister of War told him that he ought to give information to the proper authorities if he had any authoritative evidence, and summoned Colonel Yamanouchi, the Commander of Gendarmerie, and made the man repeat the charges. Colonel Yamanouchi asked the man to produce evidence and the man went away, promising to do so on the following day. This, however, he did not do. The suspicion that his story was false thus became stronger, and on the 25th inst. the Procurator laid a charge against Kono of having made false accusations against General Yamaguchi and other officers.

It is stated that the house of Otomo, the bando of Messrs. Jardine Matheson & Co., was searched, but he was not arrested. The first report of his arrest was incorrect. He was only summoned to the Court as a witness.

It is believed that the object of Kono and Isobe in bringing such accusations was probably to blackmail General Yamaguchi. Another opinion is that they intended to induce speculative merchants to believe there was some loot, and obtain money for revealing its whereabouts.

The men who are arrested were in North China during the disturbances and acted as interpreters or camp followers. They were at Hiroshima shortly before the reports of looting were published in some of the Tokyo papers. Isobe went to China as the interpreter of General Yamaguchi, but as he had not much knowledge of Chinese, he was sent to the 11th Regiment and afterwards he was attached to various other regiments.

NOTICE.

THE SECOND VOLUME OF BOX'S EXCHANGE TABLES with Rates in 1/16ths from 1/10 to 1/100 down to 1/100,000 in the bookbinders' bands and will be published next week. These Tables, which take in columns of 100, from 1/100 down to 1/100,000, and from 1/100,000 down to 1/100,000,000, will enable the user to arrive at the value in Dollars of any sum in Sterling under £1,000 by simply adding the equivalent of the Shillings and Pence to that of the Pounds; or to get the value in Sterling of any Sum of Dollars and Cents under $1,000 by adding the equivalent of the Cents to that of the Dollars. By these simple means of computation a very considerable saving of time and trouble, besides securing a ready means of proving accuracy is secured, as is illustrated in the following examples. To reduce £879.17.11 into Dollars at Exchange 1/101 1/10

£879. 0. 0 = $9,561. 925

17. 11. = 9. 745

$9,571. 671

whereas with the other exchange books the process would be as follows:—

£800. 0. 0 = $8,702. 550

70. 0. 0 = 761. 473

9. 0. 0 = 97. 904

17. 0. 0 = 9. 247

11. 0. 0 = 0. 497

$9,571. 671

or to reconvert the dollars into sterling at the same rate of exchange:—

$9,000.00 = £827. 6. 10. 8

671.00 = 52. 9. 9. 11

671.00 = 5. 1. 2. 13

£879.17.11.00

but by other books it would be:—

$9,000.00 = £827. 6. 10. 8

600.00 = 45. 10. 3. 4

70.00 = 6. 8. 8. 6

1.00 = 1. 10. 1

.00 = 1. 1. 3

.00 = 1. 1

£879.17.11.00

Every care has been taken in compiling these Tables to insure their accuracy and even as the book was being printed the last impression of each sheet was taken and carefully rechecked by two separate persons and any little errors in reading which will crop up in such works as these are carefully corrected in each copy before it is issued, thus making it a most accurate and useful book. Subscriptions for this and the previous volume, may be sent to the Daily Telegraph Office, Price $10 per copy. Hongkong, 10th February, 1902. [172d]

Very good. Very reasonable in price.

Hongkong, 6th February, 1902. [34d]

At the audience of the Foreign Ministers the Secretary read the Emperor's speech, which had previously been submitted for approval to the Diplomatic Body, but the Emperor did not personally address them. At Chinese Audiences the Dowager has occupied a seat above him, and he is stated to be looking thin and ill. In the matter of education however, he recently opened his mouth. The Dowager was advising the Hsinlin students to study both Chinese and Western works of the highest order, when the Emperor chipped in with "do not only learn them, but see that you understand them, that is the important point." The remark, if correctly represented, would appear to indicate a rather keen appreciation of things around him than the "poor idiot emperor" is supposed to possess.

A Tantai in Peking has been currying favour by buying up from various stores things that were looted from the Palace, and has succeeded in getting together some 300, for which he paid altogether Tls. 20,000; but as one article alone is estimated at Tls. 30,000 he reckons he has got them pretty cheap.

January 27th. Within the past week various mutterings have made themselves heard indicative of the spirit of the people and the impatience of the Officials. Threats have been issued to again destroy the Grandstand at the Race Course, and a guard has been placed there, and two nights ago a village not a quarter of a mile behind the stand was actually attacked, several persons being killed and injured, including one woman, who was brutally mutilated. The abject squalor of the places attacked appears to indicate an ulterior motive than robbery, and one can hardly help wondering whether it may not be part of the official scheme to show how very useless the Foreign control is when such daring acts are perpetrated. We shall feel keenly annoyed if our beautiful Grandstand suffers, especially as now there will be no means of redress, as we can hardly hold the Chinese Government responsible when they are not in control. Many of the servants are talking openly of the Boxer trouble recurring, and, as before, they echo what filters to them from higher sources.

The Generals held a meeting on Saturday, but nothing has leaked out yet as to their decisions. It is no secret however, that arrangements are being made to reduce our force to about 2,000, and the French are sending away 2,000 at least directly the Port opens. Much depends on what the Germans intend doing, and their line of action does not appear to have been decided yet.

The usual dinner in celebration of the Kaiser's birthday took place last eve, and parade with full salute this morning. Talking of parade, it is curious to see the Japs studying the goose step. They appear to have been greatly struck by its impressiveness, but what suits our tall, well built German cousins looks slightly ludicrous in the dun-colored pigmies of Dai Nippon.

Chen Pi, the Governor of Peking, by whose instrumentality the Industrial Institute and paper were recently stopped, has been appointed Vice-President of the Board of Civil Affairs. He is also superintending the repairs being made at the Western Tombs, which the Royal Astrologers have decided shall be commenced on the 26th of the 12th moon.

In reference to the handing over of the railway, Chinese sources report the British have laid down three conditions:—

1. That British troops must guard the line at intervals and be protected by Chinese troops, and that Merchants must travel unmolested.
2. That all the railway money must be deposited in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank.
3. That all railway godowns must be in charge of Britishers and not interfered with by Chinese, also that the whole of the accounts will be kept by the British.

I cannot say whether this correct. An international fete or fancy dress carnival is talked of for Shrove Tuesday. It will be a great pack I fear.

A small fire occurred on Friday at the Welsh Mess, but was quickly suppressed, and another at the German Club on Saturday which, although more extensive, was soon got under. Just as the fire had been put out a large company of German soldiers arrived, fully equipped with rifles, shovels, axes, etc. and officers in full parade uniform, and after drawing up in parade order and saluting they obeyed the order to "charge" and succeeded in entirely blocking the stairway where coolies were valiantly endeavouring to slip the waterfall from above.

January 30th. One of the most amusing things that the native papers have given us for a long time appeared in yesterday's issue of the CAH PAO. "An order has been sent to Admiral Yeh to immediately organize a Naval College at Chefoo and to secure the services of Lord Charles Bressford as naval instructor and second in command of the Peiyang Squadron. This foreigner has already visited China, and was very favourably received by the Chinese, and he is therefore a suitable man for the post." This was the substance of the delicious paragraph, which I promptly transmitted home, and it doubtless caused some amusement in Fighting Charlie's circle of intimates. The unconscious satire of the whole thing is an admirable illustration of Chinese self complacency. One only wonders that they have not offered one of the Prince of Wales' sons a midshipman's berth at the same time. There is only one way in which the suggestion can be taken at all seriously, Lord Charles did at one time suggest, I believe, the expediency of his reorganizing the Chinese Navy, and as Russia has been trying to get hold of the remains of the fleet, the idea of securing Lord Charles Bressford to take care of it might have presented itself. But the wording of the order does not convey this impression at all.

At the audience of the Foreign Ministers the Secretary read the Emperor's speech, which had previously been submitted for approval to the Diplomatic Body, but the Emperor did not personally address them. At Chinese Audiences the Dowager has occupied a seat above him, and he is stated to be looking thin and ill. In the matter of education however, he recently opened his mouth. The Dowager was advising the Hsinlin students to study both Chinese and Western works of the highest order, when the Emperor chipped in with "do not only learn them, but see that you understand them, that is the important point." The remark, if correctly represented, would appear to indicate a rather keen appreciation of things around him than the "poor idiot emperor" is supposed to possess.

A Tantai in Peking has been currying favour by buying up from various stores things that were looted from the Palace, and has succeeded in getting together some 300, for which he paid altogether Tls. 20,000; but as one article alone is estimated at Tls. 30,000 he reckons he has got them pretty cheap.

pression at all, but is in strict harmony with the lofty superiority which explains the Legion Fortifications as a Chinese precaution "in order to keep the badly behaved foreigners within bounds." There is nothing that foreign ingenuity can devise which Chinese ingenuity cannot explain away for the preservation of "face."

The feeling fermenting on all sides is a very bad one. It is in no sensational spirit that I assert we are living on a volcano. Public sentiment is almost, if not quite, as inflammable as before the outbreak, and this without the aid of any placards and boxer doctrines. The smouldering fire threatens to break out in little flames at any moment, and is only being held in by the well founded belief that preparations are on foot for a gigantic and successful movement in the near future. As to how soon and how successful that movement will be will depend mainly on the Powers. There is of course no well defined movement on foot of which official notice can be taken, but the whole atmosphere is alive with significant trifles, and those most in touch with Chinese opinion that the promotions of evil grow clearer every day. The Catholic Missionaries have gone so far as to prophesy a terrific outbreak before the opening of the port; but I think this idea is a trifle premature. What the Chinese expect is a very large exodus of troops this spring and they will not miss a single opportunity which offers for action. Secret orders have gone south to Viceroy Chang, Liu and Tao Mo, to enlarge all the arsenals and push forward the manufacture of all kinds of ammunition under high pressure, and I am told a large number of agents are now in this city buying up all the arms they can get for Tung Fu-hsian. So far from that individual being dead, he is busy raising fresh troops. It may be argued that the Chinese would not venture to do anything foolish again so soon, but I believe that if many troops are withdrawn and Tientsin City is not given over, the officials will lose their heads. The Government got out of all responsibility for the last outbreak, and nothing would be easier than to accuse "rebels" a second time. Providing everything was kept quiet in Peking it would be an easy matter to avoid any responsibility for an attempt to retake Tientsin and clear out the Settlements. Personally, however, I do not think any action will take place this year, as the Chinese are showing their hand sufficiently for the present plans of withdrawal to be greatly modified, and it seems more than probable Tientsin City will be retained under the circumstances.

Within the past month the bricks of mission Churches destroyed in Tientsin in 1900 have been gradually disappearing, and they have been traced to the compounds of various wealthy Chinese in the City. The missionaries are trying to get them back under moral persuasion and if that fails will probably take other measures. It is not the bricks, but the spirit which prompts their removal which troubles them, as its looks as if even the ruins of the destroyed Churches were an eyesore. The man who first set fire to one of the Churches has recently returned and resumed business close to the ruins where he was originally, and several men who are identified as the murderers of Christians have also just returned, evidently thinking themselves safe. The missionaries are at some loss to know whether most harm or good will be done by taking action against them, but it is hoped they will decide on the latter, as it seems a fatal mistake to let off anyone of whom it can be honestly said "thou art the man."

I think I have already stated that the most lively indignation exists amongst Americans and British in the Port at the decision of Mrs. Conger and other ladies to accept the Dowager's invitation. Words cannot describe the shame and mortification felt at such an exhibition of cupidity and curiosity, as it is impossible to reconcile their visit with anything but a desire to add to their store of pearls, pearly combs and embroideries. Fair women and innocent children die during the siege which the Dowager's disreputable connections, if not her Imperial self, were responsible for. Yet these women will smile on her, shake hands with her and may be kiss her and accept the gifts which, whether we look backward or forward spell "Blood Money."

AMERICAN PACIFIC CABLES. John W. Mackay, the projector and part owner of one of the Atlantic cable lines, announces plans for an American Pacific cable. He says, speaking for the Commercial Cable Co. "We have let a contract to Gray's Silvertown Works, near London, England, for the manufacture of the first section of this trans-Pacific cable. The price, which is £60,000 sterling, or about $3,000,000, includes the entire work of making the cable, laying it, and building the landing station. The first section will be 2,300 miles long. The distance in a direct line from point to point is but 2,180 miles, but 170 miles are allowed for the slack. The Silvertown Works will have to hustle hard to keep its contract, as it will take about two and a half months to bring the cable around Cape Horn, and they have only about ten months to do all the work."

As soon as we have finished the laying of this section to Honolulu, we will then go straight ahead for Manila, and hope to have our cable in a half. The distance will be 8,600 miles. I believe that San Francisco will be the leading cable station for the East, and that the possession of a cable by Hawaii will be the strongest factor yet in its commercial upbuilding. We have got no subsidy, nor sought any, and are spending all the money ourselves for work. Of course, we make certain conditions to the government, such as giving precedence to government messages and charging half the ordinary rates for government messages. In case of war, the United States government will have entire control of this cable."

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.

THERAPION.

This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Ricorde, Koston, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1, in a few days only, removes all discharges from the urinary organs, effectually superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. In dysentery, piles, irritation of the lower bowel, cough, bronchitis, asthma, and some of the more trying complaints of this kind, it will be found astonishingly efficacious, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2, for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swellings of the joints, secondary symptoms, disease of the bones, sore throat, and all diseases for which it has been too much in fashion to employ mercury, arsenic, &c., a fashion the destruction of the sufferer's teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3, for nervous exhaustion, waste of vitality, and all the distressing consequences arising from early error, excess, residence in hot, unhealthy climates, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigour to the debilitated.

THERAPION may be procured of the principal Chemists and Merchants throughout the world. Price in England 2/6 and 4/6. In ordering, the purchaser should state which of the three numbers he requires, and observe that the word "THERAPION" appears on the Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every genuine package by order of Her Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

BILL.

He lay dead on the cluttered deck and stared at the cold, grey skies.

With never a friend to mourn for him, nor a hand to close his eyes.

"Bill," he's dead, was all they said, "he's dead, 'n' there he lies."

The mate came forward at Seven Bells and spat across the rail.

"Jest lash 'im up w' some hollystone in a clout o' rotten sail,

An', blame ye, get a gait on ye. Ye're slower'n a bluish'n snail."

When the rising moon was a copper disc, and the sea like a strip of steel,

We sank him down to the swaying weeds ten fathom below the keel.

"It's rough about Bill," the fo'c'sle said.

"We'll have to stand his wheel."

THE PHILIPPINES.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

According to a return just issued the total cost in lives of the Philippines to the United States, including the operations against the Spaniards in Manila and Ilo Ilo in 1898, is thus stated by the Adjutant-General of the army:

Officers. Men. Total.

Deaths..... 115..... 3,378..... 3,493

Wounded..... 170..... 2,999..... 3,169

These casualties have occurred among a force of 3,477 officers and 108,800 men. There are now about 30,000 regular troops on the island, no volunteers, and the force is to be reduced to 25,000 men as soon as the scattered insurrection is subdued. The health of the troops is now giving the Government less concern than formerly, because they have become acclimated. The disorders that have caused the most fatalities are typhoid fever and dysentery. It is estimated that the Philippine casualties from Feb. 4, 1899, to June 30, 1901, were 14,634 killed, 3,777 wounded, and 40,092 surrendered and captured, but these figures are only estimates. None of the revenues of the Philippine Islands have been used for the support of the Army, but have been employed solely to meet the current expenses of the islands. From the date of the American occupation, on Aug. 20, 1898, to June 30, 1901, Secretary Root states that the revenues and expenditures in the islands have been: Revenues, $20,712,930.33; Expenditures, $14,379,601.51.

NEW BATTLESHIPS.

OUR LATEST DESIGN.

Owing to the pressure in Government dockyards the Admiralty have decided to give out construction of two of the three battleships originally intended to be built in Royal dockyards to private builders. Tenders for these will be issued along with those for five first-class cruisers. The battleships will exceed in gunpower and size anything afloat. They will be 420 feet long, and will have a displacement of 16,500 tons each, and speed of 18 knots. The one to be named King Edward VII. will be built at Portsmouth, and the two sister-vessels, Dominion and Commonwealth, will be constructed in private yards. Like all modern armoured vessels, they will have a barbettes fore and aft, each mounting two 12-inch guns, but they will introduce a new feature—four turrets each with a 9.2-inch weapon. The armament will also include ten 6-inch quick-firers, not in separate casemates as in other ships, but on the central battery system followed by some foreign constructors, and incorporated in the Japanese battleship Mikasa, just finished by Vickers, Son & Maxim. These weapons will be behind 6 inches of armour, and an effort will be made to localise the injury done to one weapon of either broadside.

FOREIGN OFFICE FRIVOLLING.

In Sir Edward Hertslet's book of "Recollections of the Foreign Office" he tells a good story of the lighter side of office work in Lord Palmerston's time. Not that Sir Edward regards the Foreign Office as a Department of idlers. He represents the impression that the clerks, like the fountains in Trafalgar Square, play from ten to four. Still there do seem to have been some relaxations half a century ago, whatever there may be now.

"Certain pretty dressmakers occupied rooms in one of the houses in Fledgling-street, just opposite the windows of the rooms occupied by some of these same 'frivolous youths.' A mutual recognition generally took place every morning between some of them. In one of these rooms there used to be one gentleman with a round head and another with red hair, and should the former first open his window, the young ladies opposite, who generally worked with their windows open, would call out, 'Good morning, Turnips, how's Carrots?' and should the latter be the first to appear, the salutation would be, 'Good morning, Carrots; how's Turnips!'"

"One day the youths in the 'Nursery' arranged a looking-glass in their own room in such a manner as to throw the sun's rays straight into these young ladies' faces and on to their work, and as these little jokes were repeated on other days when the sun permitted, complaints were made against the practice, not, I believe, by the 'pagies' themselves, but by residents in the same street, who were annoyed at what they saw going on. The complaints were addressed to Lord Palmerston, who was then Foreign Secretary, and his Lordship thereupon wrote a minute, in which he inquired, 'Who are these unmannerly youths who have been casting reflections on young ladies opposite?' This was considered a very mild and jocular rebuke, and as an apology was at once offered and the practice discontinued no further notice was taken of it."
